ELEVATOR

Urban Night Photography

with J D Callow

Location: Elevator & the Streets of Toronto

Dates: July 17 through 20th 2008

Fees: 350.00 Includes Lab & Transportation fees within the city

Photographs from this Workshop will be used to benefit the AIDS Committee of Toronto (ACT) through SNAP!

With Toronto, one of North America's most beautiful cities as the subject, Mr Callow escorts his charges from understanding the subject and all the attendant photographic requirements, through the city's streets, alleys and pathways, and finally to the creation of an intelligently thought out print, series or portfolio.

This workshop will help establish an understanding of the beauty of night under manmade light with the intent of making all night time photographic pursuits far more fulfilling.

This workshop is built around Mr Callow's way of approaching the subject of night photography. It stresses sound fundamentals and places equal if not greater importance on content and visual direction. The combination makes this workshop suitable to novices who wish to compress the learning curve, and advanced photographers who wish to add to their skill set. At its most successful this workshop will help photographers of every skill and experience level to recognize connotative and subjective elements that help make a photograph emotive and or moving.

Brits and Yanks Invade

Joe Cornish, Les McLean
Bill Schwab, Sandy King

Location: Black Donald / Centennial Lake Cottages and camping at The White Pines

Dates: Oct. 22 through 26 2008

Fees: $900.00 Includes Lab Fee (Food, travel and accommodations is not included)

Deposit: $200.00*

Photographs from this Workshop will be used to benefit the AIDS Committee of Toronto (ACT) through SNAP!

Attendees will spend five days in the Canadian woods with Brits Joe Cornish and Les Mclean, and Americans Bill Schwab and Sandy King. This workshop will include over 40 hours of shooting, printing, and lectures and will conclude with a gallery show. Be prepared for very little down time, hours of walking, shooting and learning in one of the most beautiful places on earth during the most colourful time of year. Each day will be filled with shooting, lectures and critiques by four current masters of photography.

The workshop will include on site film processing, scanning, digital image processing and printing. Opportunities for aerial photography. Digital and film, advanced through beginner welcome.
